

Advancing Health Care Equity

A Quarter at Aggie Square Speaker Series

1:10 - 3:00 pm Tuesdays | Winter Quarter, 2021

All talks are free and open to the public

Registration for each talk is required - RSVP links are below

Feb 2 Doctrine at the Gate

Religious belief informs the delivery of care at many U.S. hospitals. This talk examines the interactions of religious and legal rules that perpetuate healthcare inequality.

RSVP

Feb 9 Health Equity in California

Star will speak on her work providing health and equity expertise to California State agencies, advocacy for Tribal Communities, and research for the Rural Latino Project.

RSVP

Feb 16 What Makes an Anti-Racist Feminist Bioethics?

A discussion of bioethics, feminism, and anti-racism with the author of The Assisted Reproduction of Race.

RSVP

Feb 23 Reproductive Injustices: Forced Cesarean Sections in 1980s America

A discussion with the author of Fit to Be Tied.

RSVP

Mar 2 Triage Decisions

A conversation with Nathan Fairman, faculty associate in the Bioethics Program in the UC Davis School of Medicine.

RSVP

About the Series

Inequities in healthcare delivery mean that many people who most need health care have limited or no access to it. Race, socioeconomic and employment status, mental health issues, gender and sexual orientation can all impact patients' access and experiences. Join us for a speaker series that will examine medical, legal, sociocultural and historical perspectives on this critical topic. Hosted by Professors Emily Merchant, Meaghan O'Keefe and Lindsay Poirier as a part of their Quarter at Aggie Square curriculum, speakers will include faculty from the UC Davis Schools of Medicine and Law, and other institutions and organizations. Talks are free and open to the public.

UC DAVIS

Lisa Ikemoto, JD, LLM

Martin Luther King, Jr. Professor of Law
UC Davis

Nanette Star, MPH

Director of Health and Equity,
Strategic Growth Council

Camisha Russell, PhD

Assistant Professor of Philosophy,
University of Oregon

Rebecca Kluchin, PhD

Professor of History,
CSU-Sacramento

Nathan Fairman, MD, MPH

Professor of Clinical Medicine
UC Davis

Quarter at Aggie Square is an immersive academic program for undergraduates.

gas.ucdavis.edu/speaker-series